

Announcing 2018 CPM Symposium Scholarships

NACPM and our Symposium Convening Partners (AME, CfM, ICTC) are committed to supporting a racially, ethnically, and culturally diverse midwifery workforce and providing opportunities for multiple voices to be heard so we can better understand and be responsive to the needs of all childbearing people. In service to this commitment we are offering full and partial scholarships to the 2018 CPM Symposium which are reserved for midwives, students, consumers, allied professionals and advocates who identify as people of color, native, indigenous, and/or LGBTQ2S.

To apply for a Symposium scholarship, complete the application form by Friday April 13th with a short essay (no more than 500 words) describing your interest in the Symposium, the specific knowledge you hope to gain as a participant, the perspectives you hope to share, and how your attendance will help you serve childbearing people. Your application should highlight the ways you have become or are becoming a leader in the field. You will be notified about your application status by April 18th.

Some of our available scholarships have been awarded to people from the designated communities who are speaking at the Symposium. Realizing the need may well exceed current capacity, we will continue to seek additional sources of funding to support even greater participation.

To learn more about the CPM Symposium and Symposium scholarships, please visit our website.

If you have any questions, please contact Tiffany Pertillar at cpmsymposiumcoordinator@gmail.com.

William F. Bolger Center

9600 Newbridge Drive
Potomac, MD 20854

Register Now

